

USHER PARTNERS'26

Save Sight Now Europe (SSNEU) is a non-profit foundation (Switzerland & Spain) created to accelerate research and make a treatment possible that can prevent childhood blindness in Usher Syndrome Type 1B — a rare disease affecting hearing, balance, and vision.

In 2026, we offer multiple ways for companies and brands to join our mission through clear, practical activations, measurable impact, and flexible visibility (public-facing or internal-only, depending on what fits your organization).

Who we are & what we do

We are parents of a child with Usher syndrome 1B who chose not to accept a diagnosis as destiny, but to change it — and that decision is how Save Sight Now Europe (SSNEU) was born. Four years later, we have invested €2.5 million in research programs, through a combination of targeted grants and our own funds, accelerating the path toward treatments to cure, restore, and slow down Usher 1B-related vision loss (retinitis pigmentosa).

Today, SSNEU is supported by a dedicated team and a wider community that helps drive events and partnerships, so we can fund the research we identify as most critical to preventing childhood blindness.

SSNEU works across three pillars:

- Research acceleration: funding and enabling scientific programs and collaborations that move the field toward treatments.
- Community & data readiness: strengthening the patient and clinical ecosystem so therapies can be developed and evaluated faster.
- Awareness & fundraising: activating campaigns and events that generate real resources and visibility for Usher 1B.

Our transparency commitment: every partnership includes a clear objective, practical materials, and an impact report (what was raised, what it enabled, and what we accelerated).
